Preceding material.

12. The topological analogy

Let X be a compact orientable (topological) manifoldsurface, S a finite subset of X. If X is connected, we consider the set ω of the|its two orientations, we use it to twist the group $\mathbb{Z}$, whence a group T
End of opening paragraph.

Preceding material.

12. The topological analogy

Let X be a compact orientable (topological) [d1]surface[i1], S a finite subset of X. If X is connected, we consider the set ω[i2] of the|its two orientations, we use it to twist the group $\mathbb{Z}$, whence a group T
End of opening paragraph.

Preceding material.

12. The topological analogy

Let X be a compact orientable (topological) surface, S a finite subset of X. If X is connected, we consider the set ω of the|its two orientations, we use it to twist the group $\mathbb{Z}$, whence a group T

End of opening paragraph.